

Your and You're

Decide whether the underlined word is used correctly in the following sentences. If it is used correctly, choose correct. If it is used incorrectly, choose the correct word. Fill in the circle next to your answer.

1. "What is you're report about?" asked Bella.
 your you're correct
2. Rachel replied, "You're going to be excited!"
 Your You're correct
3. "It is about one of your favorite things," she explained.
 your you're correct
4. The teacher asked Bella, "Will you give you're report first?"
 your you're correct
5. Bella's speech was titled "Pollution in Your Neighborhood."
 Your You're correct
6. "Your polluting the air," Bella started.
 Your You're correct
7. "But it might not be you're fault," she explained.
 your you're correct
8. Bella continued, "The chimneys in your houses pollute the air."
 your you're correct
9. "And you're cars spit smoke into the air," she said.
 your you're correct
10. "If you're worried about pollution, try this," Bella suggested.
 your you're correct
11. "Ride you're bikes to school!" she said.
 your you're correct
12. She continued, "Then you're parents don't have to drive you."
 your you're correct
13. The teacher said, "Thank you for your report, Bella."
 your you're correct
14. "Rachel, it's you're turn," said the teacher.
 your you're correct
15. Rachel said to Bella, "My report is about your parents' new car!"
 your you're correct