

Prepositions and Interjections

Decide which underlined word is a preposition, an interjection, a noun, or a verb. Mark your answer on the answer sheet.

1. Did you know that there are nine planets in the solar system?
A preposition                      C noun
B interjection                      D verb
2. Wow! Earth is one of nine planets!
A preposition                      C noun
B interjection                      D verb
3. The planets are divided into two different groups.
A preposition                      C noun
B interjection                      D verb
4. Earth is part of the group called the inner planets.
A preposition                      C noun
B interjection                      D verb
5. The other planets in this group are Mercury, Venus, and Mars.
A preposition                      C noun
B interjection                      D verb
6. Hey! Did you know that scientists are studying whether there was ever life on Mars?
A preposition                      C noun
B interjection                      D verb
7. The other planets are Jupiter, Saturn, Uranus, Neptune, and Pluto.
A preposition                      C noun
B interjection                      D verb
8. The sun is about 93 million miles from Earth.
A preposition                      C noun
B interjection                      D verb
9. It is amazing that we can see it just by looking through our window!
A preposition                      C noun
B interjection                      D verb
10. With a telescope, you can see thousands of stars.
A preposition                      C noun
B interjection                      D verb
11. Neat! I want to get a telescope and start star searching!
A preposition                      C noun
B interjection                      D verb
12. Maybe I will get one for my birthday!
A preposition                      C noun
B interjection                      D verb
13. Stars have very hot gases inside them.
A preposition                      C noun
B interjection                      D verb
14. They are different colors and sizes, but they are made of similar elements.
A preposition                      C noun
B interjection                      D verb
15. Scientists study the sun most often because it supports life on our planet.
A preposition                      C noun
B interjection                      D verb
16. Ouch! It really hurts when you get a sunburn!
A preposition                      C noun
B interjection                      D verb
17. There are also thousands of asteroids in the solar system.
A preposition                      C noun
B interjection                      D verb
18. Scientists learn new things about the solar system every day!
A preposition                      C noun
B interjection                      D verb