Practice

Dear Family,
Many skills will be covered in the next few units as your child's spelling ability continues to develop.

Your interest in helping your child develop these skills will be of great benefit to her or him. Some common words present a special challenge because they are not spelled the way they sound. Thus, young children might write words such as been, have, and front as bin, hav, and frunt.

Ask your child to write the spelling words correctly on the blank lines.
